

INVITATION

BLANK CANVAS
AN OPPORTUNITY FOR EUROPE?

Dear Member of Parliament,

We cordially invite you to join us for the Open European Dialogue's Seventh Annual Policymakers Dialogue – Blank Canvas: an opportunity for Europe? – taking place from the 9th to the 11th September 2022, in Lisbon.

Europe and its policymakers have faced unparalleled challenges over the last years.

Between a global pandemic that forced our societies and economies into uncharted waters and the ongoing war in Ukraine its humanitarian and geopolitical implications, policymakers have been dealing with unprecedented challenges, taken on enormous responsibilities, and have had to make difficult decisions. As the compound effect of these policy and political challenges is yet unknown, policymakers across Europe grapple with a profound uncertainty about the future.

Could this very moment in time represent an opportunity for Europe?

Bringing European policymakers together around the issues that matter most to them.

The Seventh Open European Dialogue will deliver:

New thinking, perspectives and ideas // We will reflect on some of the most pressing political questions of our time, including the war in Ukraine and the aftermath of Covid-19. Our discussions will be enriched by high-level expert input and the perspectives of parliamentarians from across Europe;

Unique connection and cooperation opportunities // You will connect with parliamentarians from very different political, cultural, and geographical backgrounds as well as thought leaders and creative policy thinkers across sectors. A facilitated process will guide you through enriching exchanges and will offer the chance to learn from different opinions and perspectives while identifying opportunities for collaboration with colleagues from across Europe;

Reflection space // An opportunity to step away from daily political life in order to reflect and make sense of some of the momentous shifts we have been experiencing and what these might mean for the future of Europe and policymaking more broadly. The dialogue is designed to provide an informal environment and the opportunity to connect with peers in an inspiring and intellectually stimulating setting.

A dialogue for parliamentarians, by parliamentarians.

Over two and a half days you will engage with a richly diverse and selected cohort of parliamentary colleagues. We will offer you the opportunity to understand and learn from the opinions, experiences and perspectives of others, as well as share your own.

We have designed for you a space to share ideas, insights and best-practices on pressing political issues, including:

- The war in Ukraine and its implications for European strategic autonomy, Europe's relationship with Russia and the potential emergence of a new global order;
- The aftermath of Covid-19 and the long-term consequences for our societies, including exacerbated socio-economic inequalities and the impact of financial responses to the pandemic on our current economic models and paradigms;
- Critical transitions, including the advancement of the digitalization agenda and digital rights, and the question of energy security and supply in the context of the green transition and climate change action.

Yet, the dialogue is a space for parliamentarians, but also by parliamentarians. Thanks to the internationally recognized 'Good Offices' of the Open European Dialogue (OED) and an innovative open-agenda format, you will choose which issues matter most to you and connect and work together with colleagues who share your same interests.

You will have a chance to propose and lead discussions, with parliamentarians from different countries and political backgrounds, supported by the dialogue and cooperation tools of the OED.

A different kind of political conversation in a trusted and protected environment.

The Open European Dialogue is specialized in creating a secure space for dialogue and understanding between parliamentarians. You will be able to openly share your views with colleagues as we operate under the OED House Rules - you can trust that your view and that of others will be respected and heard.

Make it yours.

Finally, the Open European Dialogue offers a unique network experience and an opportunity to establish long-term connections between people who share not only a profession but also a responsibility and passion for shaping the future. We ensure you will stay in touch with your colleagues after the dialogue – and we can even offer you a platform to launch an OED event of your choice which we help to plan and implement. It is your network.

Please note that the Open European Dialogue will cover the expenses of your participation in the dialogue.

We would be honored to have you with us and hope to see you soon in Lisbon.

The property encourages discovery and will be the perfect backdrop to our political reflections.

Over the course of two and a half days, a select group of policymakers across countries and parties will explore new thinking, perspectives, and ideas in a listening conversation about the current unprecedented political challenges affecting the European continent. Enriched by expert input and innovative dialogue methodologies, this will be a dialogue for parliamentarians and by parliamentarians around the issues that matter most to them. THE OPEN EUROPEAN DIALOGUE AT A GLANCE

The Open European Dialogue is a politically neutral platform that aims to improve European politics by supporting policymakers in better understanding challenges and perspectives from across Europe. We do that by connecting European politicians across parties and countries, providing space for dialogue, and promoting innovative political conversations in ways that no one else does.

The network serves as a platform to the EU's ca. 10,000 national parliamentarians. Its active network comprises over 170 members from 23+ member states, representing around 70 different political parties.

Our members convene regularly for dialogues, conference calls, fact-finding missions, expert workshops, and other activities.

Since 2017, the network also empowers parliamentarians to develop their own cooperative, cross-party and cross-country spin-off initiatives. Our policy experts from four internationally renowned think tanks offer input to ensure the highest quality of dialogue.

A EUROPEAN PROJECT BY A EUROPEAN NETWORK OF PARTNERS

This European network is a project by the German Marshall Fund of the United States in cooperation with the Barcelona Centre for International Affairs, the Istituto Affari Internazionali in Rome, and the Hellenic Foundation for European and Foreign Policy in Athens and is funded by Stiftung Mercator by the King Baudouin Foundation, and the Robert Bosch Stiftung. In 2020, we were joined by our strategic partner APROPOS - Advancing Process in Politics in Berlin, who brings the expertise of political process design to the network.

The consortium is not merely spread across the continent to create regional points of contact, but to also bring together top-notch researchers from some of Europe's most influential political think tanks with different regional and thematic foci. This helps to ensure the best possible quality of informed conversations within the network.
